

Bret Jones

A 2004 graduate of The University of the South (Sewanee) and an alumnus of the Irish National Stud Breeding Course, Bret has been a full time employee at Airdrie Stud since 2006.

Involved in all aspects of Airdrie's bloodstock services, from choosing matings to selling seasons and new stallion recruitment, Bret also helps head the Airdrie sales team at public auctions and oversees the farm's various advertising campaigns online and in print.

A Breeders' Cup Director since 2011 and a trustee for The University of Kentucky Markey Cancer Foundation, Bret has also served on the steering committee of Vision 2020- a group developed by the Kentucky Thoroughbred Association to both educate and give a voice to the thoroughbred industry's young generation.

Bret lives in Lexington with his wife Tyler and their two sons "B" and Jack. They are expecting their third son in June of 2016.
