Can I request a waiver for licensure?

An applicant may request a waiver from sports wagering licensure to prevent dual licensing for one individual across multiple disciplines. For example, if the applicant works at a facility that offers both horse racing and sports wagering, and the applicant holds a similar license with the Commission for horse racing, the applicant may seek a sports wagering licensure waiver to avoid duplicate licensing requirements.

To apply for the waiver, the individual must submit a waiver application. The Commission may grant or deny a waiver, upon consideration of at least the following factors:

- Nature of the applicant's duties
- The best interest and integrity of horse racing, pari-mutuel wagering, and sports wagering

An applicant may be denied a waiver if their job duties are directly related to sports wagering, or they supervise employees whose job duties are directly related to sports wagering.
